

N. M. GUARDS GET "IN BAD" BY CROSSING BORDER

Innocent Troopers Unwittingly Enter Mexico On Exploring Trip; Are Brought Back and Locked Up.

MILITIA MEN ARE LATER FORGIVEN

General Pershing Is Shifting Expedition Troops Along Northern End of Line.

(By Review Leased Wire.)

COLUMBUS, N. M., May 17.—A number of New Mexico guardsmen were brought back to camp here today under guard, after having caused the American border patrol at "the gate" three miles south, as well as the Carrizosa customs guards, some alarm. The approach of the men, who were on a sight seeing trip, made the Mexican officials believe a new body of troops was about to cross the frontier. The two patrol forces advanced and stopping the guardsmen just as they unknowingly crossed the border. The militiamen were released after explanation at the base camp.

Stories brought here tonight by arriving from Mexico indicate that General J. J. Pershing is redistributing some of his troops along the northern end of the line of communication. Other official reports say considerable unrest is felt among the natives and the resident Americans in the occupied territory, begotten by rumors that the troops were to be withdrawn. Some stories were to the effect that Villistas in San Antonio and neighboring communities had made reprisals on persons who had transacted business with the American force.

About a score of officers of the army schools at Ft. Leavenworth reported here today on their way to join their regiments in Mexico.

AMERICAN FLIERS BATTLE FOR FRANCE

Soar Over German Lines In Thrilling Flight, and Return In Safety.

(By Review Leased Wire.)

PARIS, May 17.—The American aviators who have been in the service of the French army the past year and who recently were brought together to form a flotilla under the name of the Franco-American Flying Corps, took part in an expedition over the German lines today for the first time as a separate unit. They sustained particularly heavy shelling as they recrossed the front.

The machine, piloted by Lieutenant Wm. K. Thaw of Pittsburgh, lost part of its tail piece and the propeller was damaged by a shell, but Lieutenant Thaw brought it back to camp safely. Corporal J. M. McConnell of Carthage, N. C., was flying at a height of 12,000 feet, but German shells burst all around him, showing that the range of the German anti-aircraft guns has been lengthened.

The flotilla started at daybreak and spent nearly two hours reconnoitering under sustained fire, but encountered no German machines, and no one was wounded. Sergeant Elliott Cowdin of New York, Corporal Kitten Rockwell of Atlanta, Sergeant Norman Prince of Boston and Sergeant Hall of Galveston also took part in the expedition.

Three more Franco-American flotillas are to be organized from the forty additional American volunteers now in training.

900 COLORADOANS DUE AT DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

COLORADO SPRINGS, May 17.—Scores of Democrats from all over Colorado arrived today for the state convention which meets here tomorrow to elect four delegates-at-large to the national convention in St. Louis and a national committeeman. More than nine hundred delegates are expected.

A special train tomorrow morning will bring the Denver and northern Colorado delegations. The four districts will select their delegates here. Party leaders say the four delegates-at-large probably will be J. A. Thatcher and Gerald Hughes, of Denver, Alvin B. Adams, Pueblo, and Henry F. Avery, Colorado Springs. No opposition has developed to the reelection of John T. Barnett as national committeeman.

ADVICES TO AUTO OWNERS IN DISTRICT

Secretary of the Warren District Club Issues Some Good Advice to Auto Owners.

The Warren District Automobile Club wishes to call the attention of the auto owners in the District to the following facts as drawn up by the secretary:

Automobile owners should see to locking their extra tires on their cars with small lock and chain. There have been quite a few new tires stolen lately simply because they were not safely fastened on the car.

When you buy a new car take the number of same and if stolen, the officers will have a better chance to locate same.

Keep your tool box locked as you may find your tools short when you are most in need of them.

When your car is not running at night time, please turn out the lights as the approaching car owner can not tell whether your car is in motion or not if the lights are on brightly. If you will make sure of your dimmer when passing another car, same will be much appreciated.

The old road to Douglas via the Country Club will be found much better to travel on than the Douglas road via Lowell. The old road takes you to Forrest Station then to Douglas over the new road. The writer went this route last Sunday and found it in very good condition.

To the above the Review would suggest that all drivers of automobiles and trucks whenever they see any small children riding on their cars, especially on the rear, that they stop and put them off as it might be the means of saving the child's life or save some other driver of a car from running over the child and injuring it as recently occurred in upper Tombstone Canyon when the young son of City Attorney Flannigan was hurt.

WILSON IS ENDORSED BY MICHIGAN DEMOCRATS

LOCAL DISTRICT PLANTS LISTED

plants listed in Arizona that can be used. According to Secretary Nathan the report of the committee of Arizona will be ready to be mailed to New York on the 25th inst. The report has to be in New York by the 31st. Most of the reports of the aides have been received and others are coming in almost every day so that he expects to have them all in by the latter part of the present week so that he can make his report.

Industrial Survey.
The plan, as outlined by Howard E. Coffin, chairman of the industrial preparedness committee, calls for the careful study of all industrial plants in detail with a view to having their plans planned so that they may manufacture munitions during a small part of each year in order that the plant could be utilized for manufacturing war munitions should the country be forced into war.

In this way, according to the statement issued by Chairman Coffin, the plants would be prepared to turn out shells and other elements of war on short notice, the purchasing department would know where, how and in what quantity to buy materials, the workmen would know how to handle the raw materials and the plant managers could estimate the costs and time necessary for getting out given orders of war supplies. This will eliminate any possibility of a middle such as England had at the beginning of the present war, Mr. Coffin points out.

He calls attention to the fact that the part industrial America will have in national preparedness and in war, should war come, will be equal to that of the soldiers in the field.

It is for this committee on industrial preparedness to ascertain what the resources of the country for war are, and to suggest ways and means of supply these resources in the event that their use becomes a national necessity.

Work to Be Honorable.

He calls attention to the fact that England sent many skilled laborers to war only to recall them when the need for munitions became greater than the need for men at the front. This, Chairman Coffin says, should not happen in this country, and that enlisting for munition making and for carrying on the other industrial pursuits vital to the conduct of a defensive war should be as honorable as enlisting for service in the field.

Details Desired.

Mr. McQuatters is now planning his industrial survey for his district, and is gathering data, through the assistance of field aides, on all the plants in this district, their resources, the railroad trackage available, ground adjoining the factories, mills, and plants which might be available for carrying on the present plants in case of war, and everything else which might be considered valuable information to the committee and the war and navy department in the event of war.

All this information is to be treated as strictly confidential, no copies or "leaks" are to be allowed in the gathering of this data and the manufacturers are to be solicited for the information as a patriotic act in the nation-wide movement which has for its slogan "preparedness for peace."

SYD CHAPLIN IN "A SUBMARINE PIRATE" PLAYS AT THE ORPHEUM THEATRE TODAY

SYD CHAPLIN MAKING THE PERILOUS CROSSING OF A SKYSCRAPER GIRDER IN "A SUBMARINE PIRATE."

A long and adventurous career on the high seas may help some in the case of Syd Chaplin, who is to appear in the Triangle-Keystone comedy "A Submarine Pirate," at the Orpheum Theatre today. He was born March 17 (St. Patrick's day), 1885, Cape Town, South Africa. He first appeared on the stage in Miss Maggie Morton's company, playing in a drama called "Two Little Drummer Boys." He left the stage when sixteen to go to sea as bugler on the Union Castle line, running between South Africa and England. He made five voyages and then shipped as bugler on lines running to America, making six voyages. On his last voyage his ship was laid up for eight weeks for repairs at Philadelphia. Syd got a chance to see something of life ashore and, sickening of the sea, secured an engagement with Charles Frohman's production "Sherlock Holmes," playing two small parts. A little later he was given the part of Sid Prince, the cockney cracks man, in the same play. This was his first comedy part. He then obtained a small part in a comedy sketch in vaudeville, entitled "Repairs," with Val Pink's company. He made a hit in this production and was engaged by Fred Karno for a year. He went to England, where he filled the position of chief comedian in Karno's company in London. Among other sketches, he appeared in "A Night in an English Music Hall."

the question of disarmament they speak as the representatives of a nation armed and ready to disarm if others will do the same, they will be heard. If they speak as the representatives of a nation already disarmed and therefore helpless their motives will be questioned and their arguments discounted. Little regard will be given to the fact that a nation itself unarmed, urged its possible enemies to disarm.

"Someone had said that advocates of preparedness lack the larger vision of the pacifists. I deny that this is so. I claim that ours is the larger vision—it is not only a land at peace, but a land at peace with all its ideals preserved, protected, its possibilities of hopefulness expanded and expanding—a land not stripped of power through fear of using power unjustly, but rich in power and richer still in the determination that this power shall be used alone as a means to the settlement of great and noble ends."

LAKE MOHONK. May 17.—William H. Taft appeared before the Lake Mohonk conference on international arbitration tonight as a missionary for the League to Enforce Peace. In taking his place as presiding officer here, Mr. Taft answered the pacifists who object to the league because it presupposes the use of force. He replied also to critics of the league who believed it might throw the United States into "entangling alliances."

"I do not think we have reached a time," said Mr. Taft, "when force as an aid to a moral impulse can be dispensed with. We need a police force at home, and the same need exists in the relations between nations."

"As regards the fear of entangling alliances, our situation now is very different from what it was when Washington gave his warning."

"He enumerated the developments which had brought the United States into inevitable contact with foreign powers. Speaking of the Philippines he declared: "I cannot tell you what I think of our present Philippine policy in the presence of the ladies."

Mexico—Nuisance.
Mexico, he characterized as an "international nuisance, likely to entail greater burdens upon us." He continued, "We read the word in the headlines of the daily paper and then we eat breakfast before we read what is under the headline. It shows how close we are to war. It shows how
